BACKGROUND:

Communities in Schools-Central Texas, Inc. (CIS) works to keep kids in school through extensive services promoting student's school success and life skills. CIS targets students who are at risk for dropping out of school or school failure. If students' needs are addressed early and they receive necessary support and guidance, they are more likely to stay in school and graduate. City funding supports two programs: (1) Early Dropout Prevention Program and (2) Pebble Project. On September 10, 2007, Council approved a 3.5 percent increase for all social services contracts and an additional $100,000 to the CIS contract which will enable CIS to serve two additional schools, Overton and Perez, through their Early Dropout Prevention Program.
