NEIGHBORHOOD ORGANIZATION: Pemberton Heights Neighborhood Association

BASIS FOR RECOMMENDATION:

This ca. 1937 house is an excellent example of Classically-inspired Colonial Revival architecture and is associated with Paul B. Baker, the former superintendent of schools in Belton, Texas, J.R. "Potsy" Allen, Jr., a prominent insurance man in Austin, and Dean and Angela McWilliams, Republican political consultants and fundraisers.

Architecture:

Two-story, rectangular-plan, side-gabled Colonial Revival-styled brick house with a central entry with a fanlight and portico with fluted columns, Corinthian capitals with a plain neck, a frieze containing dentils, and an ornamental iron railing above; the cornice contains a line of dentils on the front facade; 6:6 windows; the windows on the ground floor of the front facade have an ornamental raised brick segmental-arched surround.

Historical Associations:

The house was built in 1937 by Paul B. Baker, who had moved here from Belton, Texas, having served as the superintendent of schools there. Baker had been a teacher in Belton in the 1920s, then promoted to superintendent of the school system. In 1936, he and his wife Lillie moved to Austin, where he became a publisher's representative and book salesman for the remainder of his career. He passed away in 1970; his estate sold the house to Joe Raymond "Potsy" Allen, Jr. in 1972. Potsy Allen was a native Austinite, and went into the insurance business in 1959 after graduating from the University of Texas and service in the U.S. Navy. IN 1965, he joined H.T. Hibler and George McCall to form the firm McCall, Hibler and Allen Insurance Agency with offices in the Perry Books Building. He died in 1996 and is buried on his ranch in Luling. Potsy's widow Chris sold the house in 1998 to Dean and Angela McWilliams. Dean McWilliams is a lobbyist, Republican political consultant and fundraiser, who worked on President George W. Bush's campaign, and who with his wife, Andrea, owns McWilliams and Associates in Austin. The McWilliams sold the house in 2001 to Florence Wilkerson. Florence is the daughter of Walter Benson, a prominent automobile dealer in Austin; her late husband, Louis Scott Wilkerson was an attorney in Austin and served as assistant Secretary of State under Allen Shivers. After his death in 1997, Florence moved to this house, where she still resides.

Biography of Dean McWilliams

Texas-born, Austin-based, and nationally recognized, governmental affairs specialist Dean McWilliams' lobbying, campaigning and fundraising skills are drawn from his twenty years experience working in the Texas Legislature.

In 2005 the Dallas Morning News ranked McWilliams one of Texas' top grossing lobbyists. Capitol Inside, the insiders' news source of the Texas Legislature, has listed McWilliams as one of the top ten Impact Players in the industry.

McWilliams came to the attention of national media during President George W. Bush's first presidential campaign. As a Bush Pioneer, McWilliams raised over $100,000 for the campaign, garnering coverage of his fundraising efforts on CNN.

Honored to consistently serve leaders at all levels, McWilliams was a member of the Honorary Committee for the 54th Presidential Inauguration, and now serves as a member of the Bush National Finance Committee. In 2004, McWilliams first earned membership on Texas Governor Rick Perry's Lone Star Council and Texas Lieutenant Governor David Dewhurst's Platinum Council. He has chaired fundraising events for U.S. Senator John Cornyn, Governor Perry, Lieutenant Governor Dewhurst, Attorney General Greg Abbott and Texas Comptroller Susan Combs, during her term as Agriculture Commissioner. At the strategic level, McWilliams has worked on federal issues with, among others, Karl Rove and former U.S. Attorney General Alberto Gonzalez.

Dean and his wife Andrea, along with State Representative Phil King, served as Texas co-chairs for Republican Presidential Candidate Mike Huckabee during the 2007-08 presidential cycle. Both Dean and Andrea are members of the Waterloo President's Council.

Today McWilliams is the co-founder of McWilliams & Associates, a full-service firm which opened its doors when the husband and wife team of Dean and Andrea combined their talents and experience to form what has become a respected alliance, trusted at the local, state and national level.

Government Experience:

Having worked in the Texas Senate and the Texas House of Representatives, McWilliams is familiar with the inner workings of both sides of the Capitol rotunda.

From 1993 to 1995, McWilliams worked on legislative issues in the Senate for former Lieutenant Governor Bill Ratliff, the past chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee. In addition to handling natural resources and budget-related issues for Lieutenant Governor Ratliff, McWilliams also served on the Lieutenant Governor's Task Force on Prison Overcrowding and the Legislative Budget Board Task Force on Health Care Reform.

During the 74th and 75th Texas legislative sessions, McWilliams served as Chief of Staff for Senator Michael Galloway. McWilliams handled all major legislative initiatives for the Senator, including all legislation relating to the Senate Intergovernmental Relations, State Affairs and Health & Human Services Committees. He also oversaw the appointment and confirmation of all gubernatorial appointments from the Senator's Southeast Texas District.

Tirelessly traveling the state during the 1994 Texas Supreme Court, Senate and House of Representatives races, McWilliams gained key campaign experience. During that time he worked with the Texas Civil Justice League, the largest state tort reform organization, and the Texas Medical Association, the state's largest professional trade association, successfully gathering support for conservative candidates.

McWilliams served as Chief of Staff to Representative John Shields during the 73rd Texas legislative session, where his work included substantive rewrites of the Texas Insurance Code and major economic development initiatives. He first began working at the Capitol in 1991, employed by his hometown State Representative Barry Telford of DeKalb, who had held the coveted chairmanship of the House Calendars Committee. Prior to working at the Capitol, Dean worked in the litigation section of the Dallas-based law firm Hughes & Luce.

The national media, including Newsweek, USA Today, CNN and NPR, have reported on McWilliams' role as a leading fundraiser for President George W. Bush. Andrea and her husband Dean, along with State Representative Phil King, served as Texas co-chairs for Republican Presidential Candidate Mike Huckabee during the 2007-08 presidential cycle.

A Chief of Staff at 21, McWilliams went on to hone her private sector grassroots skills, working on major accounts including Southwestern Bell, at iconic public relations company Public Strategies, Inc. Today she is the co-founder of McWilliams & Associates, a full-service firm of governmental affairs consultants. McWilliams & Associates opened its doors when the husband and wife team of Andrea and Dean combined their talents and experience to form what has become a respected alliance, trusted at the local, state and national level.

Government Experience:

During her tenure at the State Capitol, Andrea was fortunate enough to work for the current Vice-Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, State Representative Richard Raymond and the current Chairman of the powerful House Ways & Means Committee, State Representative Rene Oliveira. Committee Clerk for the Joint Interim Committee on Health Insurance Access, she made recommendations to statewide leaders and the Texas Legislature on the future of health insurance in the state. McWilliams subsequently served on the Lieutenant Governor's Task Force on Health Care Reform.

During the 73rd Texas Legislative Session, McWilliams served as Chief of Staff for current Vice-Chairman Raymond, actively garnering legislative support for the North American Free Trade Agreement. In 1991, McWilliams played an integral part in federally mandated redistricting as Legislative Director for Representative Olivera, current Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and past Chairman of both the House Mexican-American Legislative Caucus. During this time, McWilliams also worked on initiatives including environmental and regulatory issues, state appropriations and higher education.

McWilliams began her career in the Texas legislature in 1989, during the 71st Session, working as Projects Coordinator for State Representative Steve Wolens, former Chairman of both the House State Affairs Committee and the Joint Committee on Electric Restructuring.

Joseph Raymon "Potsy" Allen, Jr.

J.R. Allen, known to his friends as "Potsy", died November 23, 1996, at the age of 62.

A respected and well known Insurance Agent and rancher, Potsy was a native of Austin. Born December 31, 1933, to J.R. "Potsy" Allen, Sr. and Marjorie Amason Allen. He moved with his family to Roswell, New Mexico, in 1944, at the age of eleven. He graduated from the High School Division of New Mexico Military Institute, in Roswell, in 1951. His love of Austin led him to return to the University of Texas, where he became a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, the Naval ROTC program, and from where he graduated with a Bachelors Degree in Business Administration. Upon graduation, Potsy was commissioned an Ensign in the Navy, serving four years as a Naval Aviator, attaining the rank of Lieutenant, and flying many missions aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Ranger. He married Tommye Lou Brown, of El Paso, on February 4, 1956.

He left Military Service in 1959, returned to Roswell to become a partner at the Insurance Agency of Amason McGee & Allen. In 1965, he took his family to Austin to join George McCall and H.T. Hibler as a full partner at the Insurance Agency of McCall, Hibler & Allen. He had faithfully served there for thirty-one years.

A consummate insurance professional, Potsy was a board member of the Independent Agents of Austin, and in 1972 he served as its President. Later he served on the board of the Texas Association of Insurance Agents. Also active in Austin's social circles, he was a Rotary Club member, a former member of The Austin Country Club, and a longtime member of the Headliners Club and Tarry House.

Potsy's experiences on his family's farm as a child always stayed with him, and in 1971 he returned to those roots, buying his first ranch in the hill country near Johnson City, Texas. His love of the land, the cattle, good well water, and a hard day's work were evident to all who knew him and all who visited the ranch.

January 28, 1978 marks the date of his second marriage, to the woman who was to be his loving and devoted wife and companion until his death, Christine M. Evans.

In 1986 Potsy bought the Wilson family (his relatives) farm near Luling. Together, he and his wife Chris have built it into a beautiful and viable ranching operation. The Allen Cattle Co. Nothing pleased him more than seeing the hay out of the field and in the barn as the rain began to fall, or safely delivering a newborn calf, no matter that it was in the middle of the night.

Uncompromising integrity, fair play, a determined work ethic and love of a good joke were everpresent in Potsy's life. His enthusiasm, drive, and strong faith were inspirational to many, and never failed him. His smile was as infectious as it was genuine.

Potsy is survived by his wife Chris M. Allen; his mother, Marjorie Shulz of Roswell; a sister, Ann Ray of Lockhart; a brother, Howard A. Allen of San Diego; first wife, Tommye and two sons by that marriage, J.R. Allen, III of Austin and Todd Allen and wife Rosalind of Los Angeles; children of his second marriage, Elizabeth Moseley and Mark of Austin, Michael A. Evans and Joan of Dallas, Chantal D. Evans of Austin, Robie B. Evans of Austin, and a daughter-in-law, Jan Evans. Potsy was blessed with six grandchildren, Mackenzie, Austin, Cody, Marie, Jennifer and Justin. He leaves behind loving family and lifelong friends.

A memorial service will be held to celebrate Potsy's life on Tuesday, November 26, 1996, 11:00 a.m., at St. David's Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Charles Huffman officiating. Parking at St. David's Parking garage; entrance on Trinity between 7th and 8th Streets. A reception will be held at the church immediately following. Interment will be at the family ranch in Luling. It will be a private service. The family requests that in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to the American Cancer Society or the charity of your choice.

Potsy will lie in state at Weed-Corley-Fish Funeral Home, 3125 N. Lamar Blvd., 452-8811, until 10:00 p.m., Monday, November 25, 1996.

Arrangements by Weed-Corley-Fish Funeral Home, 3125 N. Lamar, 452-8811.
