Project Recovery is a 90-day residential treatment facility for mental health and treatment administered by MHMR with oversight by the Downtown Austin Community Court. The program opened its doors in August 2006 and began in cooperation with the Travis County Attorney, County Court at Law Judges, MHMR, Travis County and the Community Court. The program offers certain criminal justice offenders substance abuse and mental health services as an alternative to jail.

This action designates the funding for the program, however, MHMR bills the City monthly as services for that month are performed.
