

HISTORIC LANDMARK COMMISSION
SEPTEMBER 26, 2011
DEMOLITION AND RELOCATION PERMITS
HDP-2011-0177
905 OLIVE STREET

PROPOSAL

Demolish a ca. 1938 house.

ARCHITECTURE

One-story side-gabled board-and-batten Cumberland-style house with a central, partial-width shed-roofed independent porch on turned wood posts; 1:1 windows appear in a ca. 2000 photograph of the house; the windows have been boarded over.

RESEARCH

City building permits reflect that the house was built in 1938 by Alice Stevens, who never lived here. The house has been occupied almost exclusively by renters throughout its history, with a regular turnover of tenants. The house was converted to a duplex between 1949 and 1953.

STAFF COMMENTS

The house is listed as a medium priority for preservation in the Historic Resources Survey of East Austin (2000), but was at that time in much better condition.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Release the demolition permit. This house is in a seriously deteriorated state, and its 1938 construction date is significantly later than the other turn-of-the-century houses in the neighborhood, three of which are historic landmarks. While staff recognizes that this house would be part of a potential district, it does not merit individual landmark designation.
