On February 25, 2010 the Austin City Council adopted the East Riverside Corridor (ERC) Master Plan as an amendment to the Austin Tomorrow Comprehensive Plan to guide future development and redevelopment in the East Riverside Corridor area. The purpose of the ERC Master Plan is to guide future redevelopment and city infrastructure improvements so that they are in line with the community's vision for the area. The Corridor Plan was called for in the East Riverside/Oltorf Combined Neighborhood Plan and was spurred-on by active discussions of introducing streetcar/light rail service to Austin's core neighborhoods and centers of activity, including along East Riverside Drive. When the ERC Master Plan was adopted, the City Council directed City staff to develop a comprehensive set of zoning and site development regulations to implement the land use and urban design recommendations of the plan. The Master Plan recommends the creation of a design-based zoning code to promote residential and mixed-use development in the planning area; require better standards for urban design, building placement, and street connectivity; require pedestrian accommodation in site design; and create a development bonus system allowing increased building height and square footage to incentivize the provision of public benefits (such as affordable housing). In response to City Council action on February 25, 2010, the Planning and Development Review Department is proposing that properties in the planning area be rezoned and given East Riverside Corridor (ERC) base district zoning. This action will set a public hearing to consider an amendment to Chapter 25-2 to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Create the East Riverside Corridor (ERC) base zoning district, which will apply design-based zoning, site development and development bonus standards to implement the land use and urban design recommendations of the East Riverside Corridor Master Plan, adopted February 25, 2010; 2. Amend Subchapter E, Article 1 of the Land Development Code (Design Standards and Mixed Use) to exempt development built pursuant to the ERC zoning district regulations; and 3. Approve a collector street plan for the East Riverside Corridor Area.
