The attached plan governs the operations of the Water Quality Protection Lands (WQPL). In 2001, the original land management plan for these operations was prepared by a consortium led by the Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center. Since the original plan was developed, the WQPL has grown from 15,000 acres in 2001 to 26,517 acres in 2012. This updated plan takes into account these new acquisitions, land management approaches that have been refined through 10 years of on the ground work and the ever-evolving scientific literature. This revised science based plan has been prepared by the Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center and is intended to optimize the quantity and quality of water leaving the Water Quality Protections Lands and recharging the Barton Springs segment of the Edwards Aquifer.
