

HISTORIC LANDMARK COMMISSION
JANUARY 27, 2014
DEMOLITION AND RELOCATION PERMITS
HDP-2014-0003
906 KINNEY AVENUE

PROPOSAL

---

Demolish a ca. 1940 house.

ARCHITECTURE

---

One-story, L-plan, side-gabled frame house with a projecting front gable and partial-width inset porch on ornamental metal posts; single and paired 1:1 fenestration; metal window awnings.

RESEARCH

---

The house was built in 1940 by Robert F. and Erna Rockwood, who lived here for the rest of their lives. The house was built on land apparently owned by Erna Guttman Rockwood; her brother, Walter, lived immediately next door at 908 Kinney Avenue at the time the house was built. Robert F. Rockwood had lived with his mother in a rented apartment on W. 12th Street for many years before getting married. He was a city fireman and later fire marshal; around the mid-1940s, he became a projectionist for the Texas Theater at 2224 Guadalupe Street, a job he had previously had as a younger man – he listed “moving picture operator” on his 1917 World War I draft registration card. Robert Rockwood worked as a projectionist at the Texas Theater until the mid-1950s, when he retired. Erna Rockwood was an audit clerk at Sears from the time of her marriage until the mid-1950s.

STAFF COMMENTS

---

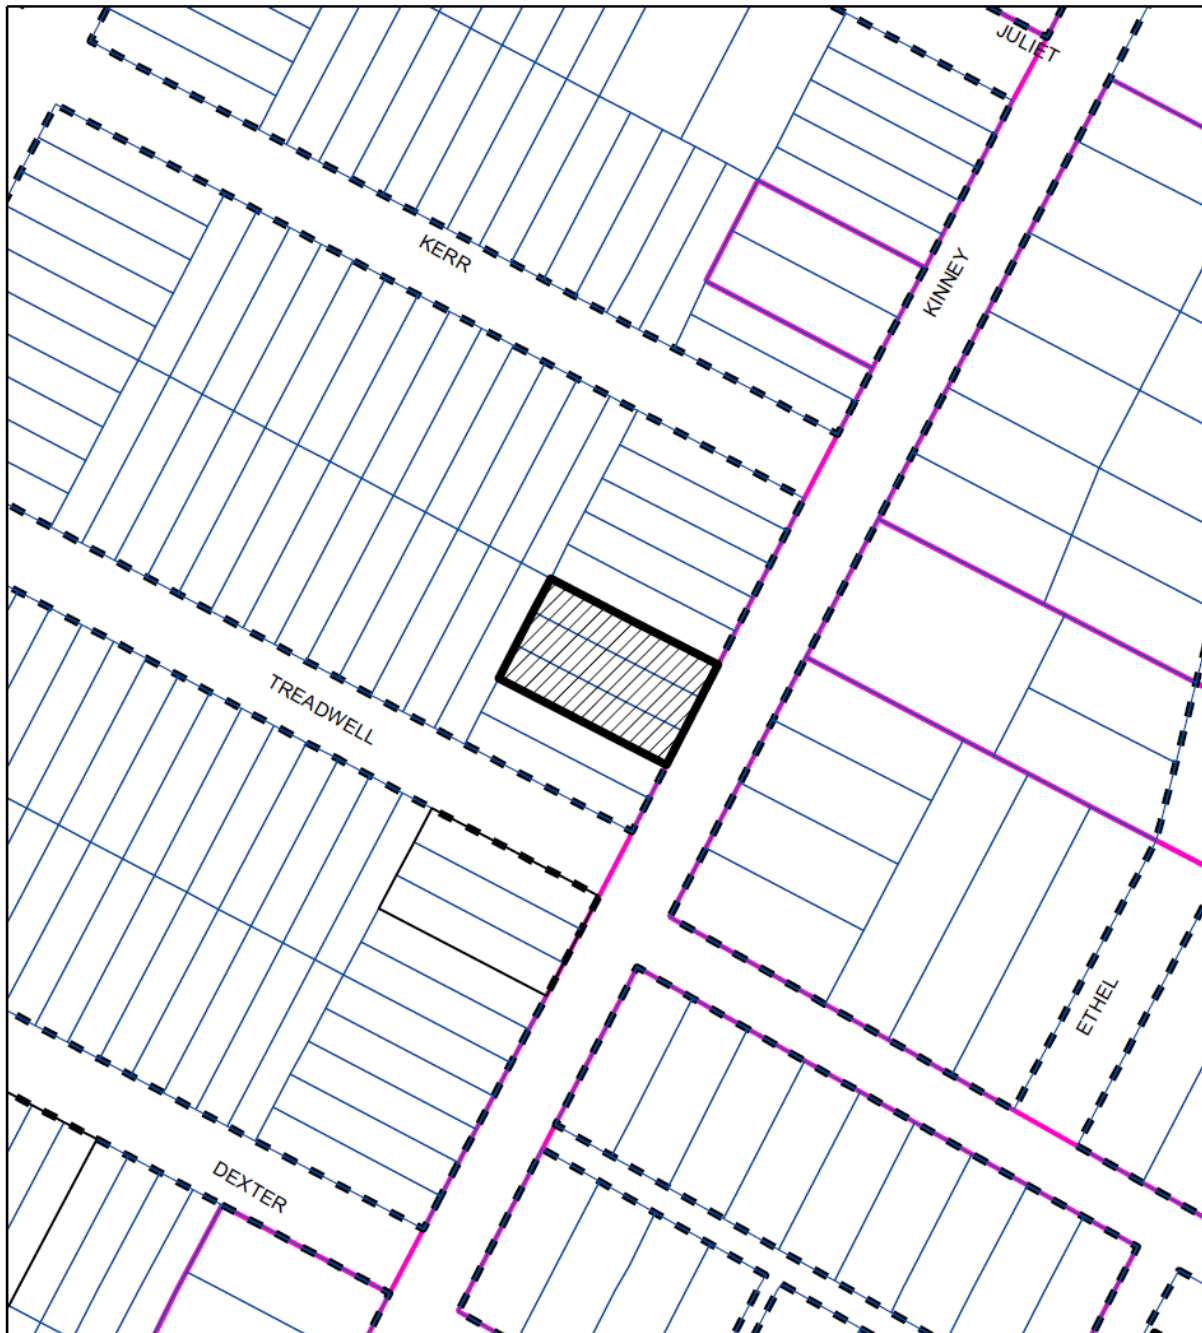

The house is not listed in any City survey.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

---

Encourage relocation over demolition, but release the permit upon completion of a City of Austin Documentation Package, consisting of photographs of all elevations, a dimensioned sketch plan, and a narrative history, for archiving at the Austin History Center. The house has neither the architectural nor the historical significance for individual designation as a historic landmark, but is a good example of working-class housing in the early Barton Hills neighborhood.
