PROPOSAL

Demolish a ca. 1957 house.

ARCHITECTURE

One-story, rectangular-plan, hipped roof stone-veneered house with a partial-width inset porch; 1:1 fenestration with a tri-part picture window.

RESEARCH

Although the house looks older than its purported 1957 construction date, there does not appear to be any evidence pointing to a construction date earlier than 1957. The long-time owners of the house were members of the Saustrup family. Anders and Billie Saustrup were the first owners and occupants of the house; he was an instructor and assistant professor at the University of Texas; she was a child welfare worker for the State Department of Public Welfare. After they divorced in 1975, Billie Saustrup remained in the house until her death in 1982. Her sons, Arne and Niels Saustrup owned and occupied the house after that. Anders Saustrup died at his home in Round Top, Texas in 2008.

STAFF COMMENTS

The house does not appear in any City survey or on any Sanborn map.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Encourage retention and re-purposing the house over demolition, but release the permit upon completion of a City of Austin Documentation Package, consisting of photographs of all elevations, a dimensioned sketch plan, and a narrative history, for archiving at the Austin History Center. While the house lacks sufficient justification to warrant individual designation as a historic landmark, it helps to define the traditional character of the old Barton Hills neighborhood.
