PROPOSAL

Demolish a ca. 1883 house.

ARCHITECTURE

One-story, wing-and-gable plan frame house with a partial-width, shed-roofed independent porch on turned wood posts; single and paired 4:4 fenestration; vinyl siding and shutters.

RESEARCH

The house appears to have been built around 1883 by Robert Irwin, a local contractor and carpenter who lived here with his wife until his death in 1899. His widow, Sallie, continued to live here until her death in 1911. With her lived her sister, Mattie Goodale, another widow, who lived here until her death in 1915. The house then became a rental unit until around 1921, when it was purchased by Thomas and Katie Cuneo. Thomas Cuneo was the Louisiana-born son of Italian immigrants, and worked as a butcher until he opened his own meat markets. Cuneo continued to own the house after he and Katie moved elsewhere. His tenants included Charles and Dosha Barnard, who lived here from around 1926 to around 1933, and Otto and Sophie Hinkle, who lived here from around 1933 until around 1946. Charles Barnard was a laborer for the City Water, Light and Power Department. Otto Hinkle was a farmer from LaGrange, who was a carpenter here in Austin; he and Sophie had a laundry business at this house in the early 1940s.

The house was purchased by Louis Melendez and his wife, Elaria, around 1946. Louis Melendez was a tailor; he worked for a Mexican-American tailor shop for some time, then worked in men's clothing stores after that. Elaria Melendez worked for a while as an attendant at the Austin State Hospital. They lived here until around 1965.

STAFF COMMENTS

The house is listed in the East Austin Historic Survey (1980). The photograph shows the house with its original wood siding and with window moldings.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Initiate the historic zoning case. This section of East Austin contains a relatively large number of intact late 19th century houses, and should be preserved. Every effort should be made to avoid the demolition of a house of this age in this neighborhood.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

Robert and Sallie Irwin (ca. 1885 – ca. 1911)

Mattie Goodale (ca. 1908 – ca. 1915)

Sallie Irwin appears at this address in the 1910 U.S. Census report. She was a 75-year old Georgia-born widow who was a seamstress at the house. With her lived her two widowed sisters: Mary Thompson, 76, and Mattie Goodale, 66. Both women had been born in Georgia. Mattie Goodale was a seamstress at home; Mary Thompson had no occupation listed. Sallie Irwin also had 2 lodgers here: George and Lena Matum. George Matum was a 34-year old Texas-born carpenter. Lena Matum was 22, had been born in Germany, and had no occupation listed.

Robert Irwin died December 27, 1899; there was no obituary found in the Austin newspapers. Sallie Irwin died May 10, 1911; there was no obituary found in the Austin newspapers.

The 1900 U.S. Census shows Mattie (Martha) and Frank O. Goodale living with their daughter, Mattie V. Walton, in Kempner, Lampasas County, Texas. Frank O. Goodale had been born in 1831 in Massachusetts, and was a railroad engineer. Mattie Goodale was born in 1843 in Georgia, and had no occupation listed. Their daughter, Mattie V. Walton, 19, was married to 40-year old Mississippi-born farmer, Leroy Walton. The census record shows that Mattie Walton had been married for 7 years (or at the age of 12), and had given birth to 2 children, one of whom, 2-year old John, was still alive. The oldest of Leroy Walton's sons (from a previous marriage) was also 19. The 1880 U.S. Census shows F.O. and Martha Goodale living on Cypress Street in Austin. F.O. Goodale was a carpenter. They had 6 children; Martha, the youngest (with whom F.O. and Mattie Goodale were living in 1900), was 9 months old. Their oldest son, then 14, was a clerk in a store. The older girls had no occupation listed.

Mattie Goodale died June 2, 1915 in Kempner, Lampasas County, Texas. There was no obituary found in the Austin newspapers.

George and Rose Powell (ca. 1919 – ca. 1921)

George and Rose Powell appear as the renters of this house in the 1920 U.S. Census. George Powell was a 62-year old English-born hotel clerk; Rose Powell was 60, had been born in England, and had no occupation listed. They had a daughter, Bertha, 21, a Texas-born stenographer in a federal office, and a grandson, Jack, 8, who had been born in Texas.

Thomas and Katie Cuneo (ca. 1921 – ca. 1925)

Thomas and Katie Cuneo appear in the 1930 U.S. Census as the owners of the house at 908 E. 9th Street. Thomas Cuneo was a 58-year old Louisiana-born meat cutter, whose parents had been born in Italy. Katie Cuneo was 51, had been born in Texas, and had no occupation listed. The 1920 U.S. Census shows Thomas and Katie Cuneo at 1006 E. 7th [?] Street in Austin. He was a butcher in a meat market. By 1940, they were living at 304 ½ W. 13th Street – he was listed as a butcher in a meat market.
