Additional Backup Information

In 2013 Ordinance 20130523-104 transferred several existing parking reductions from Subchapter E to the same section as the bicycle-related reductions (25-6-478). The intent of this approach was to group numerous options for parking reductions in one section of the code.

Recently it has come to staff's attention that there are unintended consequences of this consolidation of parking reductions. Specifically, there have been requests to apply certain parking reductions to single-family or two-family projects. In addition, there is concern that projects that are not subject to Subchapter E, for example a site plan exemption, may be able to access these parking reductions. Because this was not the intent of the amendments, an amendment is being proposed to clarify how parking reductions can be applied.
