Capacity Building Program FY 2017

1. PURPOSE

The City of Austin Economic Development Department's Cultural Arts Funding Program recognizes the unique role of arts and culture in ensuring a strong creative economy. The Capacity Building program is designed to strengthen the economic stability of arts and cultural organizations and individual artists to ensure strategic workforce development in the creative sector, to provide access to quality arts for its citizens, and to grow and sustain Austin's artistic and cultural assets. The program's targeted approach to the development of Austin's community cultural institutions further addresses the City's long term goals to increase and diversify production of arts and culture, preserve the character of Austin, and to enhance the presentation of Austin's cultural diversity, reflecting its demographics in all areas.

Capacity Building refers to developing and strengthening the skills, competencies, and abilities of people and communities to help realize their developmental goals to achieve measurable and sustainable results. The program is specific to development of critical infrastructure such as management, governance, financial resources, and administration and career systems.

The overall objective for this competitive solicitation is to establish contracts with individual artists and small and medium non-profit arts and cultural organizations for organizational and career development. Serving as an incubator, the grant of public funds provided herein will serve the City's goals of promoting local economic development and stimulating creative business activity.

Goals

- To invest in the health of the creative and cultural ecosystem;
- To provide concentrated and targeted support to a variety of organizations and individuals for a measurable return on investment;
- To improve capability and skills to achieve growth and sustainability of individual artists and arts organizations;
- To increase public access to quality arts and culture;
- To grow and sustain artists and small and medium-sized arts and cultural organizations in Austin;
- To strengthen existing organizations and artists so that in turn field/market growth can occur for the balance of cultural services;

2. BACKGROUND

The purpose of the Cultural Arts Division is to nurture, preserve, and promote Austin's arts and creative industries in order to strengthen and sustain Austin's dynamic cultural vitality. The Cultural Arts Division functions in part as the Local Arts Agency for Austin with a purpose of strengthening the role of the arts in economic development, tourism, community development, and revitalization. The Division serves the creative community working in all art forms and disciplines and encourages neighborhood-based organizations and activities that promote art, imagination, and creativity to enhance the role of the arts as part of the daily fabric of community living.

On August 25, 2011, Austin City Council authorized an update to four previously commissioned studies relating to the impact of cultural activities on the local economy to reflect changes in the industry. The study was compiled into a report entitled "The Economic Impact of the Creative Sector in Austin – 2012 Update". The study reports economic impact results and gives evidence of significant impact and overall value of arts, culture, and creative industries as a fundamental component of the economy. In 2010, the creative sector accounted for just over $4.35 billion in output (about one third more than in 2005), $2 billion in value-added, $1 billion in labor compensation, over $71 million in City tax revenues, and almost 49,000 permanent jobs. The role of the creative sector in Austin's economy (as measured by employment) has risen by about twenty-five percent over the past five years, a pace more rapid than the ten percent growth for the local economy as a whole, and reflects the fact that creativity (in its many facets) is increasingly important to the present and future regional economy. However, according to the study, business models are in flux and access to financial resources continues to be a challenge for all creatives working in the not-for-profit models.

Subsequent to the Creative Sector Economic Impact Study, a City of Austin Creative Sector Economic Impact Study Staff Report and Action Plan was submitted to Austin City Council on May 24, 2012 to address the needs of the creative sector through an implementation plan to improve the key areas such as Capacity Building.

In 2003, a report of the Cultural Vitality and Creative Economy Subcommittee was issued as part of the Mayor's Task Force on the Economy. The report provided recommendations on how to best support local cultural vitality and foster the continued growth of creative jobs, recognizing that strong cultural and social institutions help build the quality of life that attracts talented workers and directly employ many creative workers. The subcommittee members believe that supporting arts and cultural amenities is a critical aspect in expanding jobs and businesses in the creative sector.

In 2010, Austin City Council endorsed the CreateAustin Community Cultural Master Plan, which was the result of a two year process of cultural assessment, research, and community engagement undertaken to chart a course for Austin's cultural development over the next 10 years. The Capacity Building program responds to Recommendation #3 "to increase and focus business development and technical assistance services for nonprofit creative businesses, nonprofit cultural organizations, and individual creators to enhance management capacity and grow jobs, wealth, and economic impact of promising subsectors of the creative economy. Improving management effectiveness, marketing, and fundraising will enhance revenues."

Furthermore, the City of Austin Imagine Austin Comprehensive Plan, adopted by Austin City Council in 2012, recognizes that Austin's creative sector is key to our continued economic growth. The plan outlines a guiding principal to "provide paths to prosperity for all" by developing new economic sectors through partnerships between the business community, city government, and institutions to help employ a diverse workforce and expand opportunities. Prosperity for all means capitalizing on the city's creative industries, cultural heritage, and diverse population to position the city as a national and international center for innovation and knowledge-based industries. The plan's key findings for arts and creativity include:

- Arts and creative community struggles with issues of funding, affordable and appropriately-sized performance and practice space, housing, health and healthcare, and quality of life issues.
- City and private funding for local arts facilities and programs is critical to the ongoing strength of the arts in Austin.
- Workforce development programs need to provide job training for technological, arts-related occupations.

Through this solicitation, the Cultural Arts Division seeks to support the development of a creative and cultural labor force to maintain Austin’s competitiveness and ensure that creativity remains central to Austin’s present and future economy.

Section IV. Budget & Deliverables

Operating Budget History

Enter annual operating budget information as submitted on your IRS form 990 for the fiscal years* indicated. Enter CASH INCOME & EXPENSES ONLY; do not include in-kind amounts.

If the application is on behalf of a sponsored project, enter budget information for the sponsored individual/organization/group. When given the option of “Projected/Actual” for the 15-16 Fiscal Year, click whether the amount entered is “Projected” or “Actual”. This number is NOT your City of Austin funded amount, nor is it your project budget.

Budget history will be reviewed when determining the eligibility requirement “...of ongoing artistic/cultural programs for a minimum of three years”. This means that you must have had some income and expenses in FY13-14, FY 14-15 and FY 15-16. If this is left blank we will assume that you do not meet the ongoing activity requirement.

*Fiscal Year - a period used for calculating annual ("yearly") financial statements in businesses and other organizations. The City of Austin's fiscal year is October 1 through September 30th. You are not required to use the City's fiscal year. Some groups or individuals may have their fiscal year set up as the calendar year (January 1 through December 31).

NOTE: Please disregard the total line for this table as it will always show a total of $0.00

Capacity Building Project Deliverables

PROJECT DELIVERABLES - Provide a clear and concise project deliverable list. Your Project Materials must occur and be completed within October 1, 2016 - September 30, 2017. The Deliverables and the timeline should reflect the tasks required to accomplish the project, when the activity is expected to be completed, and a summary of the total activity cost.

The Project Summary will be the basis for the scope of services for which the applicant will be contracted. If the application is on behalf of a sponsored project this summary should correspond to that sponsored project's programming.

No financial match is required for compliance of the contract; however, additional investment of applicant resources may be necessary to achieve the goals of the capacity development plan. The budget must be specific to the activities for which funding is requested and separate from the general operating or artistic programming budget. The proposed development plan may not include other Cultural Arts Funding Programs funds or monies already being used to match other City funding. If your Project Deliverables total cost exceeds the maximum request amount, please list other income sources in the Tasks/Deliverables column.
