 DEMOLITION AND RELOCATION PERMITS
 HDP-2018-0029

PROPOSAL

Demolish a ca. 1951 house.

ARCHITECTURE

One-story, rectangular-plan, side-gabled frame house with painted permastone siding; partial-width, flat-roofed independent porch on ornamental metal posts; single and paired 1:1 fenestration.

RESEARCH

The house was built in 1951 by the First Austin Investment Corporation. The first owners and occupants were Spencer and Nadine Russell, who lived here until around 1958. Spencer Russell grew up in East Austin, the son of a single mother who worked as a laundress. He was listed as a widower with 4 children in the 1940 U.S. Census, when he was living in rural Travis County and working as a laborer in general construction. He owned a house valued at $200 in that census report. While living in this house, he was listed as a student in the 1954 directory, and as a laborer in the 1957 directory. He does not appear in the 1959 directory.

Following the Russells' occupancy of this house, it was owned and occupied by Sylvester and Leora Johnson, who lived here for a few years in the early 1960s. Alton and Dorothy Lisino are listed as the owners of the house in the 1965 city directory; he was in the U.S. Army. From that time forward, the house has been a rental property with tenants including a janitor, an air filter cleaner, a contractor, a city employee, and an employee of Austin State School.

STAFF COMMENTS

The house is not listed in any City survey to date, but would be contributing to a potential historic district in Cedar Valley. However, staff has also noted a large number of health and safety violations for this address in city records.

Staff has evaluated this house for designation as a historic landmark and has determined that the house does not meet the criteria for landmark designation as set forth in City Code:

- a. Architecture. The house is a frame early 1950s cottage with permastone siding that has been painted. The house reflects a common style with no architectural distinction.
- b. Historical association. The person with the longest tenancy in this house was a laborer, which is somewhat of an anomaly in this neighborhood, which was first occupied by members of the African-American middle and professional classes; there do not appear to be significant historical associations.
- c. Archaeology. The house was not evaluated for its potential to yield significant data concerning the human history or prehistory of the region.
- d. Community value. The house does not possess a unique location, physical characteristic, or significant feature that contributes to the character, image, or cultural identity of the city, the neighborhood, or a particular demographic group.

- e. Landscape feature. The property is not a significant natural or designed landscape with artistic, aesthetic, cultural, or historical value to the city.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Encourage rehabilitation and adaptive re-use, then relocation over demolition, but release the permit upon completion of a City of Austin Documentation Package. While probably contributing to a potential historic district in this neighborhood, the house does not meet the criteria for individual designation as a historic landmark.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES:

Spencer and Nadine Russell (ca. 1952 – ca. 1958)

The 1940 U.S. Census shows Spencer Russell living in a house he owned worth $200 in Precinct 3 of Travis County. He was a 33-year old widower who had been born in Texas and worked as a laborer in general construction. He had 4 children: Spencer, Jr., 10; Ann, 9; Bernell, 7; and Samuel, 4. All of the children had been born in Texas.

Spencer Russell appears in the 1920 U.S. Census as the 12-year old son of Eva S. Russell, who lived at 1700 E. 8th Street in Austin, a house she owned. Spencer was the 3rd of Eva Russell's 4 children listed in the census report. He had been born in Texas. His mother, Eva, was a 51-year old Texas-born widow who worked as a laundress at home. Her parents had been born in North Carolina. Spencer's oldest sister, Luetta, 17, was a nurse for a private family.

RUSSELL, Spencer, 77, of Austin died Sunday. Services 2 p.m. Thursday at Pleasant Grove Baptist Church. Burial at Capitol Memorial Park. (Phillips-Upshaw-Richards Funeral Home)
