Additional Backup Information:

The 2015 Austin-Bergstrom International Airport Architectural and Engineering Services Rotation List currently provides professional architectural and engineering services to the City of Austin's Aviation Department in support of project needs. Work assignments are typically associated with airport building and/or structural additions or modifications, civil or utility projects, and/or other airport-oriented specialty work. Specific task assignments include scoping, investigation, design, estimating, construction oversight, sustainability, and/or other functions as required to meet project requirements.

Austin-Bergstrom International Airport has a backlog of Capital Improvement Program projects and other developments to be assigned in the coming months that will encumber the remaining authority left on the current rotation list, but will not be enough to handle all of the anticipated projects. These projects include general aviation, planning and studies, maintenance projects as well as utility and storm water upgrades. Austin-Bergstrom International Airport is working with the Capital Contracting Office to solicit a new Aviation Architectural and Engineering Rotation List to replace the current Austin-Bergstrom International Airport Architectural and Engineering Services Rotation List, however this additional authority will mitigate risk against any delays on upcoming critical projects.

This amendment has been approved by the City's Change Control Committee. The Change Control Committee was established to comply with Council Resolution No. 20120126-048, which required the establishment of consistent criteria and process to evaluate contractual changes for all contracts administered by the Capital Contracting Office. The Change Control Committee is comprised of management-level subject matter experts.
