

This map of Austin, Texas, illustrates the city's extensive park and greenbelt system. The Colorado River winds through the city, with several parks situated along its banks. Key parks and greenbelts highlighted include the Dry Creek Green Belt, Stoney Ridge Park, Old Moore's Crossing Park, Elroy Park, and two proposed park soccer fields. Other notable parks shown are Emma Long Metropolitan Park, Zilker Park, Barton Creek Greenbelt, and Walter E. Long Metropolitan Park. Major highways such as I-35, I-183, and I-130 are clearly marked, along with various local roads and landmarks like the Austin-Bergstrom International Airport and the Bullock Texas State History Museum.

[illegible]

This map illustrates the Dry Creek Green Belt area in Elroy, Wisconsin. The central feature is a large, irregularly shaped area outlined with a thick green dashed line, representing the green belt. Within this area, two specific locations are marked with green squares and labeled as '2 PROPOSED PARK SOCCER FIELDS'. Surrounding the green belt are several parks, each labeled in a white box: STONEY RIDGE PARK (top left), ELROY PARK (center left), OLD MOORE'S CROSSING PARK (bottom left), and DRY CREEK GREEN BELT (center). The map also shows various neighborhoods including VISTA DEL PUEBLO, OAK RANCH, MEADOWS AT BERDOLL, LOS CIELOS, LINDA VISTA, STONY RIDGE NORTH, STONEY RIDGE, ELROY, THOROUGHbred ESTATES, LAKE CITY ESTATES, SHANNON ACRES, SWISS ALPINE VILLAGE, CREEKWOOD RANCH, JACOBSON ESTATES, and MOORES CROSSING. Major roads are depicted with yellow and orange lines, and smaller roads are shown in grey. A large black dotted circle is drawn around the central area, encompassing the green belt and the proposed soccer fields. The map includes a scale bar at the bottom left and a north arrow at the bottom right.

[illegible]