(transcript of motion)

Motion

SHIPMAN: Yes, Mayor. I would like to make a motion so that Council will have some options to evaluate when we act on the budget next week. I move that we request that the staff re-estimate the Arts Commission recommendation of August 13th, 1986 based on their revised bed tax figure of $978,227.00 with a percentage cut from the Arts Commission recommendation that will affect each group proportionate to their scale. This should be distributed so as to have an equal effect on all groups. Included in this should be the organizations that were recognized as part of the appeal process. They should be included in the re-estimation. Secondly, I would like to request that the staff also provide an option based on the available bed tax, but utilizing the formula presented by Mr. Traverso this evening and I have a copy of that to share with the staff which would be a little.. a varying percentage allocation. And thirdly, so that Council will have an additional option, is that we formally request the Arts Commission to re-evaluate their recommendation based on the revised bed tax figure that we now have to work with. The reality.. so, based on this, Council will actually have two recommendations from the Arts Commission, a revised..well a re-estimated recommendation based on utilizing just the bed tax. We will have a re-evaluation by the Arts Commission. Finally, we are going to have to make basic policy decisions as to whether or not to extend funding for the arts beyond the available bed tax. We can not take additional monies out of the bed tax. By law we are tied to that 1% only. I believe that's a state law.

MAYOR: Yes. I asked about that this afternoon and I was given an opinion from the City Attorney's Office that we can not increase the amount. I was thinking, you know, if we could increase the amount to..by 25 cents that that would bring us home to where we want to be but no way we can do that under the law.

CARRASCO: Mayor, and Council, one additional observation that I would like to bring to your attention and the Mayor touched on this earlier this afternoon, is that the current funding procedures address situations where there can be..whenever there is more money available than has been budgeted, there's a procedure for allocating any additional revenue that might be collected over a fiscal period over and above what was estimated. But there is no procedure if you are dealing with a situation that might involve having less money available at the end of the fiscal period than had been projected. This sets up a potentially problematic situation for you during the course of the next fiscal year. One thing that the Council may want to consider is how to deal with that possible situation so that there is an expectation in advance of what would happen. And obviously the bottom line objective would be to make sure everyone understands that no more money than is actually available could be provided during the fiscal period. We can, of course, also work on some options for you to consider, but that is..particularly given the instability of these revenue sources, something you ought to consider before finally adopting the budget.

SHIPMAN: I think that would be very helpful to have that information from the Arts Commission..just what you've just said for us..also I want to clearly state that when the Arts Commission re-evaluates their recommendations, we are not to decrease minority funding because it is already so low. There's just not anything there to work with and that's got to be a clear policy statement from the City Council....the motion.

TREVINO: I'll second the motion.

Motion passed by a vote of 4-0 with Councilmembers Humphrey, Rose and Urdy not present in the Council Chamber.
