Samsung Austin Semiconductor, L.P. proposes to expand its facilities located at 12100 Samsung Boulevard, Austin, Texas. This expansion will help stimulate the overall local economy by creating at least 240 permanent jobs over the next five years; allowing fabrication of semiconductors at these facilities to continue into the next decade; increasing Austin Energy's base revenues by approximately $1.6 million annually; and adding significant new property to the City's tax base.

The investment by Samsung is estimated to be $500 million and the total economic impact to the Austin area is estimated to be $750 million.

Based on the positive economic benefits to the City through Samsung's expansion and because the expansion is consistent with the City's economic development programs and will promote the public purpose of economic development in the area, staff recommends the following, in an amount not to exceed $1,604,000, be waived.

Development application, review, and permit fees in an amount not to exceed:     $ 100,000.00

The estimated dual feed service fees to be waived by Austin Energy are:
