BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL

PART 1. FINDINGS.

The Council finds that:

- (1) Protection of the character of older nei Austin is in the public interest.
- (2) The character of an older neighborhood includes safe and adequate drainage facilities.
- (3) The character of older neighborhoods includes appropriate scale and bulk of structures that may be different from what is appropriate in newer subdivisions that have modern infrastructure.
- (4) The City first established drainage regulations to address fully developed conditions on March 7, 1974, with the adoption of Ordinance No. 740307-F. Subdivisions approved before March 7, 1974 were not required to construct facilities that took into account storm water flow increases resulting from future development.
- (5) Storm drain systems in older subdivisions are currently operating near or beyond capacity. The remaining portion of the capacity, if any, in the drainage system in the older neighborhoods is committed to the redevelopment.
- (6) Interim development regulations are needed to study the impact of redevelopment of older neighborhoods and the effect on the aging infrastructure.

1 2 3 4 5	(7)	The City has adopted a drainage utility fee to fund the construction of drainage facilities. The revenue generated from the fee is not sufficient to meet the identified need for drainage facilities. The City desires to explore alternative methods, including land use regulations, to address the drainage problem.
6	(8)	The interim development regulations in this ordinance are limited to areas of the City where the shortage of drainage facilities exists.
8 9 10 11	(9)	Redevelopment of the area subject to this ordinance without appropriate controls could result in conditions which would be detrimental to the health, safety and welfare of the residents of the City of Austin.
12 13 14 15 16 17	(10)	Existing development ordinances and regulations and applicable laws are inadequate to prevent redevelopment of duplex or single-family uses from causing overcapacity of the drainage system because the development will increase impervious cover and could overwhelm the drainage infrastructure and be detrimental to the public health, safety and welfare in the area covered by this ordinance.
18 19 20	(11)	These interim development regulations achieve the objectives of protecting the infrastructure by allowing redevelopment to the extent appropriate for the existing infrastructure.
21 22 23	(12)	The City of Austin is committed to investigating and determining appropriate redevelopment regulations within the affected area by June 6, 2006.
24	PART 2. I	DEFINITIONS AND MEASUREMENTS.

PART 9. EMERGENCY DECLARED; EFFECTIVE DATE.

The Council finds that the continued development of large single-family uses in areas of the City for which subdivisions were approve before the City required drainage facilities to account for new development would negatively affect property in the area, overwhelm aging drainage infrastructure, negatively affect the public health, safety and welfare of the public, and impede the Council's efforts to examine the effect of certain land uses on the City's drainage infrastructure. The Council further finds that this constitutes an emergency. Because of the emergency, this ordinance takes effect immediately on its passage for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety.

Interim Single-Family Development Regulations

On Feb. 9, 2006, the Austin City Council approved on first reading interim development regulations for some new single-family residential construction and remodels.

On Feb. 16, 2006, the Council approved the interim development regulations on second and third readings. The substantive change made was the addition of duplexes to the regulations.

People wishing to build a duplex or home or add on to a duplex or home may still do so under the temporary regulations adopted by the Council. The interim regulations do not prohibit new duplex and single-family home construction or remodels. The regulations limit the size of some new duplexes and single-family homes and remodels. The Interim regulations are also limited to subdivisions which were originally platted before the City established drainage regulations on March 7, 1974.

To provide for public participation and gather more public input, the City Council appointed a task force (PDF) to further study the issue and make recommendations on permanent changes. The task force is comprised of citizens representing neighborhoods and the building industry.

The third meeting of the task force will be from 1 to 3 p.m. Friday, Feb. 24, 2006, at Austin City Hall, 301 W. Second St. Free public parking is available in the City Hall parking garage which must be entered from the Lavaca Street side.

The interim regulations adopted can remain in effect through June 6, 2006, though the City Council has sent out notice for possible consideration and action again on March 2, 2006, (PDF) should the task force recommend that Council adopt changes at that time.

If you have questions about applying for a building permit for new construction or a remodel or if you have questions about the waiver process, please call the Zoning Review division of the Watershed Protection and Development Review Department at (512)974.2380.

If you need more information, please contact Tina Bui in the Neighborhood Planning and Zoning Department by e-mail or by calling (512) 974-2755.

Where do these temporary regulations apply?

The temporary regulations don't apply to every property in the City of Austin. They are limited to subdivisions which were originally platted before the City established drainage requirements.

The temporary regulations apply to properties subdivided before March 7, 1974, or on a tract that may legally be developed without being platted.

Then, the temporary regulations apply if you are constructing or adding on to a new duplex or single-family home.

- on a property where a duplex or single-family home was demolished or moved or
- on a property where a duplex or single-family home will be demolished or moved.

If a duplex or single-family residence never existed on a property, the temporary regulations do not apply.

The temporary regulations do not apply to two-family residential or secondary apartments.

If you apply for a permit to demolish or move a duplex or home, you must concurrently apply for a residential construction building permit.

What are the restrictions? What can I build?

New duplexes and homes: If you are building a new duplex or single-family home on a property where a duplex or house was or will be demolished or moved, the maximum size of the new home is limited to the greater of the following

- 0.4 to 1 floor-to-area ratio (FAR);
- 2.500 square feet; or
- 20 percent more square feet than the structure that was moved or will be moved.

Additions: If you are adding on to a duplex or single-family structure, the maximum size of the structure after the remodel is limited to the greater of the following

- 0.4 to 1 floor-to-area ratio (FAR);
- 2,500 square feet; or
- the existing size plus 1000 square feet, if the property carries a homestead exemption for property tax purposes.

How does the City measure square feet?

Square footage is measured as the total enclosed area of all floors in a building, if the floor has a clear height of more than six feet. Parking facilities (e.g., garages, carports), driveways, unenclosed porches and stria airspace do not count in your square footage measurement.

What is floor-to-area ratio (FAR)?

FAR measures the square footage of a building relative to the amount of land on which it sits .

The City of Austin defines FAR as the ratio of the gross floor area to the gross site area (total lot area). That is, the square footage of a home (as defined above) compared to the square footage of the lot.

For example, if a home is 4,000 square feet in size and the size of the lot is 10,000 square feet, the FAR is 4,000 dived by 10,000, which is equal to 0.40.

FAR = Square footage of home Square footage of lot

FAR = 4.000 square feet 10,000 square feet

= 0.4

Other examples:

Lot square footage	Square footage of home when FAR is limited to 0.4
5,750	2,300
7,000	2,800
8,000	3,200
10,000	4,000

What if I want to build or add on to a duplex or a home beyond the limits allowed under this ordinance?

The temporary regulations allow for waivers to the ordinance.

The City Council may waive part or all of these development regulations if they determine that

- a. the regulation imposes undue hardship on the applicant; and
 - 1. the development proposed will not adversely affect the public health, safety and welfare; or
 - the applicant is proposing to mitigate the effect of the redevelopment by providing adequate safeguards which the Council finds would adequately protect the health, safety and welfare of the public;
- b. a development agreement permits the activity;
- the applicant has a right acquired under Texas Local Government Chapter 245, or has a dommon law vested right that has been fully adjudicated by a court of competent jurisdiction; or
- d. the applicant is providing appropriate drainage facilities at the applicant's cost.

The applicant for the walver must prove all of the facts necessary to satisfy the criteria listed above.

To apply for a waiver, an application must be submitted (PDF) to the Zoning Review Division of the Watershed Protection and Development Review (WPDR) Department, located on the 2nd floor of One Texas Center (505 Barton Springs Road). It is advised that an applicant sign in to see a planner during the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. to ensure that the application is complete. The Director of the City's Watershed Protection and Development Review Department will make a recommendation to the City Council on each application. The Council will then vote to grant a waiver not later than the 10th day after the date of receiving the waiver application.

Who can I contact for more Information?

If you have questions about applying for a building permit for new construction or a remodel or if you have questions about the waiver process, please call the Zoning Review division of the Watershed Protection and Development Review Department at 974.2380.

If you are submitting an application for a permit or waiver, it is advised that applicants speak with a residential zoning reviewer. Residential zoning reviewers are located on the 2nd floor of the City's One Texas Center building, located at 505 Barton Springs Road. Walk-in hours are 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The phone number is 974,2380.

I need to know how much I can build according to the floor-area-ratio (FAR) limit. How do I find out?

The FAR limit is easy to calculate. Simply multiply your total property size by 0.4, or use our online FAR calculator below.

To see what the maximum total living area in square feet you could build on your property, enter the approximate square footage of your property and click "Calculate FAR".

SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL & DUPLEX REGULATIONS

Planning Commission Recommendations on Issues to be Considered by Task Force

Planning Commission action taken on February 14, 2006. Recommendations were incorporated into motion made to approve recommendations passed by City Council on first reading but add duplexes to the uses subject to the interim development regulations (J.M. Cortez, M. Dealey 2nd; 7-1 with C. Galindo voting no, J. Reddy absent).

- Consider impervious cover change where needed to address flooding
- Allow floor-to-area ratios (FARs) to be set in neighborhood plans
- · Consider high drainage fees in older areas
- Allow a larger house if the walls step back from side yard (e.g., 5-foot setback for 1st floor, 10-foot setback for 2nd floor); Different square footage allowances for 1st floor and 2nd floor (sometimes referred to as a second-story ratio)
- · Prohibit mechanical equipment in the side yard
- Trigger new, stronger compatibility requirements based on size of home, including requirements on garage placement, landscaping, building materials
- Consider whether design standards should be enforced in neighborhood plans
- Develop a waiver process based on consent from surrounding neighbors
- Create a mechanism so neighborhoods not in neighborhood planning areas can adopt design tools provided for in neighborhood planning process
- Consider issues of sustainability associated with large houses such as energy use, water use, solid waste
- Look at how to build more apartments and duplexes in neighborhoods with good drainage
- Make recommendations to Planning Commission and City Council on where to direct dense development
- Consider using floor area to footprint as a metric (e.g., 2.5)
- Study the root causes of larger single-family homes (e.g., financing, profit margins/drivers, tax policy, etc.)

Single Family House Size Data: Trends and Existing Conditions for Austin Neighborhoods

Introduction, Methodology and Discussion

Introduction

The purpose of this effort is to produce information about the sizes (in terms of square feet) of single family houses in Austin, including data on trends over time and existing conditions by neighborhood areas. The resultant products include:

- typical house sizes of existing housing stock by neighborhood,
- average house sizes of new housing stock created in the past five years by neighborhood and subdivision,
- ranking and graph of recently built house sizes by neighborhood,
- a listing of the very largest houses built during the past year.

Discussion

Clearly, the physical size of single family houses built in Austin has increased significantly over the past five decades. For example, the standard house built in Brentwood in the late 1940's is about 1,200 square feet and housed Austin's first wave of returning GI's and their new families; whereas today, the typical house being built in Circle C is almost 4,000 square feet in size—more than three times the size of the Brentwood classic. Interestingly, the size of the average family living in these structures has actually steadily decreased over the same period of time (about 4.3 persons per family on average in 1950 compared to 3.1 persons per family today).

There are very few neighborhoods in Austin that have not seen at least some level of residential redevelopment in the form of substantial renovations, remodeling projects, and today, tear-down and re-builds. This activity has resulted in "house size multi-modalism" within Austin neighborhoods. In other words, neighborhoods tend to have two to three distinct clusters of house size groupings. For example, in Rosedale, there is the group of original homes that are seldom larger than 900 square feet; then there is the group of houses that have had renovations yielding additional bedrooms, larger kitchens and bathrooms and sometimes family rooms. These structures can typical range in size from 1,450 to 2,400 square feet. And today, original houses in Tarrytown, for example, that may have initially been no more than 1,300 square feet in size are being demolished and replaced with structures that often range anywhere from 5,000 to 10,000 square feet in size.

Methodology

Information from the Travis Central Appraisal District is used to create a sample of house sizes within existing neighborhoods and to determine the decades when that stock was built. Building permit information is used to calculate the average sizes of new house built within Austin since 2000 by neighborhood.

This document is produced by Ryan Robinson, City Demographer, Department of Neighborhood Planning and Zoning, City of Austin, January 2006.

§ 25-2-1068 CONSTRUCTION OF PARKING LOTS AND DRIVEWAYS BY CIVIC USES PROHIBITED.

- (A) Except as provided by Subsection (B), a parking lot or driveway may not be constructed to serve a civic use described in Section 25-2-6 (Civic Uses Described) if:
- (1) construction of the parking lot or driveway requires the removal of a single-family residential use; or
 - (2) the civic use provides secondary access from the civic use through a lot.
- (B) Subsection (A) does not apply if at least 50 percent of the property adjoining the lot on which the parking lot or driveway is located is in a townhouse and condominium residence (SF-6) or more restrictive zoning district. Property that adjoins the rear of the lot, property owned by the owner of the civic use, and right-of-way are not considered in making a determination under this subsection.

- (C) The Land Use Commission or the council may approve a waiver of a height restriction imposed by Section 25-2-1062 (Height Limitations And Setbacks For Small Sites) and 25-2-1063 (Height Limitations And Setbacks For Large Sites) only if:
- (1) there is an existing structure located between the proposed structure and the closest property to the proposed structure that triggers the compatibility standards; or
- (2) the proposed development is located on and completely surrounded by property in a downtown mixed use (DMU) zoning district and the person applying for the waiver has:

- (a) provided notice of the requested waiver, by certified mail with return receipt requested, to the owner of each property that adjoins or is across the street from the proposed development and on which a use permitted in an urban residence (SF-5) or more restrictive zoning district is located; and
 - (b) submitted the return receipts to the director.
- (D) A waiver approved under Subsection (C)(1) may not permit the construction of a structure that exceeds the height of the existing structure.
- (E) This section does not prohibit the Board of Zoning Adjustment from granting a variance from a requirement of this article under Section 25-2-473 (Variance Requirements).

- (B) The director may waive the application of this article to property that is not located more than 1,000 feet from a roadway, if property in the development reserve (DR) district that triggers the compatibility standards has frontage on a road classified by the Transportation Plan as a minor arterial or larger roadway.
- (C) Before waiving the application of this article under this section, the director must review for property 540 feet or less from the property for which the waiver is sought:
 - (1) each existing land use and proposed development; and
 - (2) each approved preliminary subdivision plan or final subdivision plat.
- (D) The director shall issue notice of the director's decision on the waiver under Section 25-1-133(B) (Notice Of Applications And Administrative Decisions). The granting or denial of a waiver under this section may be appealed to the Land Use Commission.
