

Internship and work experience opportunities can be instrumental in shaping the career path for young adults.

Internship programs provide that critical link between the academic setting and the work environment to enable students to explore areas of interest and apply their knowledge to determine the appropriate work environments that best match their skills and abilities.

An Austin Parks and Recreation internship gives a unique opportunity to learn about the park and recreation profession by working side by side with established professionals. The Department is looking for individuals who can solve problems; work as a member of a team; and be proactive and creative in their work. Our interns don't learn by watching, they learn by getting involved.

Our goal is to provide students with the following opportunities:

- Develop and refine technical skills
- Develop problem solving and critical thinking skills
- Offer career exploration
- Develop and refine communication skills
- Develop a professional ethic
- Develop teamwork skills
- Develop skills that can be used in multiple employment settings

In order to meet the demands of a more prepared work force, the Department offers two levels of internship opportunities: Introductory Internships and Leadership Internships.

INTRODUCTORY INTERNSHIPS

Introductory Internships are designed for underclassmen interested in learning more about the mechanics of program design, program management, and evaluation. Students have the opportunity to apply educational concepts to real-world situations. They are placed in program areas under the supervision of selected site supervisors, Program Managers or Division Managers and are expected to complete a project prior to the completion of the internship.

While Introductory Internships are open to all students who qualify, availability may vary from semester to semester. Typical placements are in the following areas: Aquatics; Golf and Tennis; Community Recreation; Natural Resources; Park Operations; Finance; Marketing and Public Relations; Therapeutic Recreation; Special Events; and Cultural Affairs. These introductory experiences allow students the opportunity to test the waters as they begin to form opinions about their desired career path outside a classroom environment.

LEADERSHIP INTERNSHIPS

Leadership Internships allow selected students who demonstrate potential leadership skills to intern at our executive level, working alongside Assistant Directors and the Department Director.

Students have the opportunity to utilize the knowledge gained in the classroom and see how their studies translate into a professional setting. Leadership interns work on projects that provide valuable hands-on experience and have the opportunity to learn from experienced professionals.

These limited internships are designed for upperclassmen that have completed an Introductory Internship with the Austin Parks and Recreation Department, or an internship with another agency, and are interested in pursuing a more focused internship that will provide them a view into the true pulse of the Department.

Because of the nature of the Leadership Internships, there will be only four positions available per year, and restricted to juniors and seniors who are looking to enter the public park and recreation field.
