NEIGHBORHOOD ORGANIZATION: Pemberton Heights Neighborhood Association

BASIS FOR RECOMMENDATION:

Architecture:

Two-story irregular-plan hipped roof Moderne-styled brick house with a central recessed entry flanked with a rounded two-story bay on the right and a rectangular two-story bay on the left. The house has horizontal bands of raised bricks on the first and second stories, adding to its Art Moderne styling. Fenestration consists of paired 1:1 and paired casement windows. The house has a modern addition on the back. A garden wall to the right of the house carries forward the Moderne-style themes of horizontal bands of raised bricks. The garden gate on the property is metal in a Moderne design.

Historical Associations:

The house was built in 1937 for Mat S. and Idamae Spires. Mat S. Spires was born in Bell County, Texas, where he lived with his divorced mother, Lou, until around 1924, when he moved to Austin. The 1900 U.S. Census report shows Lou Spires as a widow residing in rural Bell County with her five children, including two older boys that were half-brothers to Mat. Lou Spires was born in Tennessee; her two oldest children were Sam Boase, 12, who worked as a farm laborer, and Erastus Boase, 9. Interestingly, the next household listed in the 1900 census report was that of an Erastus Boase, who was a year older than Lou Spires, and who had been married to his then-wife for 8 years, suggesting that this Erastus Boase may have been the father of Lou Spires' two older boys. In addition to the Boase boys, the Lou Spires household also included Mat's two older sisters, Jessie and Ruby. The family does not appear in the 1910 U.S. Census report for Bell County. However, they do appear in the 1920 U.S. Census report, living in Temple, Texas. The household includes Lou Spires, who is listed as divorced (the 1900 census report listed her as a widow), Mat, who was then 23, and who worked as a salesman in a shoe store, and his older sister, Ruby, and her husband, Joe Day, who worked as the manager of a racket store. By 1930, Mat S. Spires had married and moved to Austin. The 1930 U.S. Census report shows Mat S. and Idamae Spires renting an apartment at 605 W. 10th Street in Austin. Mat was then 33 years old, and was listed as the manager of a shoe store. Idamae Spires was also born in Texas, was then 28, and had no occupation listed. The couple had no children listed in the census report.

Mat Spires moved to Austin around 1921 – he is not listed in the 1920 city directory, but the 1922 directory shows him as the manager of the White Shoe House at 109 W. 6th Street. Spires was rooming at 203 W. 7th Street in 1922. He is listed as the manager of the White Shoe House in the 1924 directory, and was rooming at 710 Colorado Street. By 1927, Spires was the president of the French Boot Shop at 720 Congress Avenue. The White Shoe House was managed by an E.W. Hemphill. The 1929 directory shows Spires as the vice-president and the secretary-treasurer of the French Boot Shop; he was then living at 605 W. 10th Street. He married Idamae in 1929 – she appears with him in the 1930 U.S. Census report, and in the 1930-31 city directory. The 1930 census report shows that they had been married for a year, and were renting the apartment at 605-B W. 10th Street for $40 a month; he was listed as the manager of a shoe store. The directory shows the same address, but he was listed as the president of the French Boot Shop. By 1935, Spires was the vice-president of the French Boot Shop; Earl Boyd was the president. The store carried women's shoes exclusively. The 1937 directory shows that Spires had expanded his business – he was listed as the vice-president of the French Boot Shop, as well as the manager of the Bootery at 606 Congress Avenue. The Bootery was a new business – it was not listed in the 1935 directory. The 1939 directory reveals the same arrangement – Earl Boyd was the president of the French Boot Shop, while Spires was the vice-president of the French Boot Shop and manager of the Bootery. The arrangement apparently came to an end around 1940 – the 1940 directory shows Spires as the manager of the Bootery at 606 Congress Avenue and Earl Boyd as the manager of the French Boot Shop at 720 Congress Avenue. Roy Thomas, a prominent local architect, designed the facade of the Bootery in 1935.

When Spires married Idamae, they were living in an apartment at 605 W. 10th Street; they moved to 3206 Fairfax Walk by 1932; they stayed on Fairfax Walk until building this house on Hardouin Avenue in 1937. He retired from the shoe business (The Bootery) in 1947. City directories after that time show him as retired. Idamae passed away in 1955, and Spires sold the house in 1960 to Roy and Rose Seekatz, moving to an apartment on Enfield Road. He died in 1968.

Roy Seekatz was a rodman for the City of Austin Engineering Department in the early 1930s, and opened his own business, the Capitol Linen Supply Company, in 1937 in what was the old Filling Station Restaurant (now demolished) on Barton Springs Road. Seekatz' business expanded over the years – he was one of Austin's premier laundry and dry cleaning operators in the 1940s, 1950s, and 1960s, with four locations around town. He and Rose divorced in 1972, and Seekatz retired from the laundry business in 1973. Rose got this house in the divorce settlement, and sold it in 1974 to John and Leslie Gallery. John Gallery was a dean at the University of Texas. They lived here for only three years, and sold the house to attorney Robert Looney and his wife, Linda. The Looneys sold the house in 1986 to Anthony and Angela Woodbury. Anthony Woodbury was an assistant professor in linguistics at the University of Texas, and specializes in the documentation of endangered languages. The current owners, Hunter and Pamela Barrier, purchased the house from the Woodburys in 1999.

SPIRES HOUSE

1406 Hardouin Avenue

Built: 1939

Owners: Pamela & Hunter Barrier

Moderne

Most suburban homebuilders in Pemberton Heights played it safe, and looked to the past and Europe for architectural inspiration. But the house Matt and Ida Spires built had very contemporary influences. The curved corner by the front door, the horizontal bands around the house, the brick panels above the front door and the low pitch roof all suggest art moderne influence, seen on a larger scale in the Bohn House on W. 29th St.

Spires was manager of Bootery, Inc. and later president of Texas Local Board No. 119. He and his wife lived in the house for twenty years. In 1961, Rose and Roy Seekatz, owners of Capitol Laundry, acquired the property and remained there twelve years. Thereafter, the house changed hands several times: University of Texas dean John Gallery and his wife Leslie acquired Spires House in 1975, Linda and Robert Looney in 1980, and Anthony and Angela Woodbury in 1987.

The present owners, Pamela and Hunter Barrier, working with Kevin Alter of the U.T. School of Architecture, did a most sensitive job renovating and expanding the house. Alter won an award for his careful blending of the old and new sections from the Austin Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. The Spires House was featured on the 2002 AIA Homes Tour.

did you know:

- DID YOU KNOW THAT — It takes only two hours working time to give a meticulously controlled family wash as finished with perfect quality, guaranteed against FADING, SHRINKING & LOSSES or your money back!
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — YOUR clothes are laundered in order to prevent washing wear?
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — Bleach, as you know it, is properly used for sterilization of clothes and for the removal of fruit and grass stains!
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — THE sterilization test is to let your wet wash bundle stay wrapped for ten days without mildewing. To safeguard the health of your family ask your washer/dryer or laundry man if he can guarantee you that your wet bundle can stay wrapped for ten days without mildewing. Yes, we remove mildew. Good clothes mildewed in separately, will not hurt the material and removed at no extra charge to you.
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — All of our founded colored wash, western, silk, etc. are washed with a bug and so not repellent.
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — Perspiration and sun light kill the sticking power of dye so much that it will wash out as dirt! Soaks are your best remedy at that.
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — We guarantee to wash new material for twenty washings without fading the color!
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — Blood stains wash out properly only in cold water!
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — Perspiration must be washed out in hot warm water to avoid leaving a yellow stain around the collar of a shirt!
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — Other stains are removed only when the temperature wash reaches certain degrees of heat! Wash must go from cold to hot.
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — Regulations of the soap works: It takes different types of soap for different temperatures of washing! Talcum like gray? Over hair of it?
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — Your clothes must be washed while not bleached white! When a temperature wash is omitted to save time, a greater quantity of sterilizing agent must be used to attack the dirt and washing out. This process will leave a yellow stain or a little-bit gray looking that will not rise out at the same time give above normal deterioration to the clothes.
- DID YOU KNOW THAT — From five to seven rinses must be used to give that beautiful sparkling hot-dry to your wash, remembering that white color must be color true for cleanliness thru proper washing.

We at the Capitol Laundry and Cleaning Co. are your profit sharing employees. It is a must that our CUSTOMERS share in our prosperity by receiving a GUARANTEED better laundry and cleaning service or your money back.

Biographies of Matt S. and Ida Mae Spires

Matt Spires was formerly from Temple, Texas before coming to Austin, where he would reside for the next 47 years. Matt began his retail career as manager of the White Shoe House in 1924. A few years later he became president and owner of the French Boot Shop, which was located at 720 Congress Ave. In 1937, Matt was listed as the manager of The Bootery, Inc., located at 606 Congress. He retired 10 years later, in 1947. In addition to The Bootery, Spires owned and operated a second shoe store, Walk Over Shoes.

Matt Spires was a member of the First Methodist Church, Hill City Lodge, 32nd degree Scottish Rite, Ben Hur Shrine, Royal Order of Jesters, and the Austin Country Club. He was also president of Texas Local Board No. 119.

Spires was married to Ida Mae Spires. The Spires received a building permit from the City of Austin on September 9, 1937 to build a brick veneer 2-story house with frame garage at 1406 Hardouin Ave. The house was built with very contemporary influences. The curved corner by the front door, the horizontal bands around the house, the brick panels above the front door, and the low pitch roof all suggest art moderne influence, seen on a larger scale in the Bohn House on W. 29th Street.

The Spires lived in the house for 23 years, until Matt sold it to Roy and Rose Seekatz.

Biographies of Roy E. & Rose Seekatz

Roy Seekatz and his wife, Rose, bought the house in 1960. Prior to this, they were listed as residing at 602 E. 43rd Street. Mr. Seekatz worked as a rodman for the City of Austin Engineering Department beginning around 1929. In 1937, Roy opened his own business, Capitol Linen Supply Company at 801 Barton Springs Road. His business grew and eventually he had four locations in Austin. Seekatz owned and operated Capitol Laundry and Dry Cleaning from 1937 until his retirement in 1973. Roy was a member of the Austin Country Club for over 50 years and also the Secretary of the Texas Local Board #119.

Rose and Roy divorced around 1972, and the house was deeded over to Rose, who took the name Rose Kelly. The following year, Rose sold the house to John and Leslie Gallery.

Biographies of John and Leslie Gallery

John and Leslie Gallery bought the house in 1974 and resided there until 1977. Prior to this house, they were not listed in the Austin City Directory. During there time in the house, John was a dean at the University of Texas.
