

Audit of the Austin Police Department (APD) Handling of Complaints Follow-Up

Original Audit

Background

- Members of the public who believe they have had a negative interaction with an Austin police officer can file a complaint with APD or the Office of Police Monitor (OPM).
- APD's Internal Affairs investigates these complaints and the officer's chain of command determines if a policy was violated and an appropriate discipline.

Results

Cultural issues and other barriers limit the ability of members of the public to make complaints about interactions with APD. Issues with APD policies and practices affect the consistency of how complaints are handled. The ability of OPM to provide oversight is limited. These issues may lead to a more negative perception of law enforcement and may erode the public trust in APD.

Follow-Up Audit

Background

- In September of 2016, the Office of the City Auditor conducted an audit of APD handling of complaints and issued 11 recommendations to APD, OPM, and the City Manager's Office.
- Management agreed to implement our recommendations with the exception of 1 recommendation to APD regarding documenting the justification for discipline.
- Labor agreement negotiations this year affected the implementation of some recommendations

Objective

To test the implementation of recommendations from the Audit of the APD Handling of Complaints.
