24	WHEREAS, the City of Austin, recognizing from the start of the COVID-
25	19 Pandemic that it would likely disproportionately impact communities of color
26	due to a history of systemic racism and inequity, has consistently taken a proactive
27	approach to mitigate for disparate impacts, including:
28	• requesting dis-aggregated data reporting on COVID-19 cases, testing,
29	and hospitalizations as to clearly indicate disproportionate impacts to
30	communities of color,
31	• establishing and allocating funding to the RISE Fund, prioritizing
32	direct aid to vulnerable populations, especially in communities of
33	color and communities of need;

38	coverings, hand washing stations, and other protective measures,
39	• requiring face coverings for grocery store clerks, nursing home
40	workers, and other essential employees,

43	the health impacts of all construction being allowed per the

Such a strategy could include, but would not be limited to, efforts to:

134

135

136

• ensure all employers are keeping high-risk workers at home through telework, or at the bare minimum, are moving those workers into

137	isolated work settings with the lowest risk of interaction with COVID
138	carriers,
139	 ensure all high-risk workers are able to advocate for telework and safe
140	work conditions,
141	 ensure all high-risk workers are connected to unemployment
142	insurance and PUA as needed and as applicable, and
143	 ensure high-risk workers that do not qualify for PUA or
144	unemployment benefits (and who cannot be moved to a safe work
145	environment such as telework) are connected with telework jobs or
146	social and economic supports.
147	Other actions may include:
148	 prioritizing COVID-19 response funds or other COVID-19 relief
149	funds,
150	 providing direct financial assistance to those high-risk workers with
151	no other options,
152	 creating materials (e.g., posters, check-lists, resource guides) and
153	educating workers and employers of their options, and
154	 establishing (internally or externally) a high-risk worker resource
155	center that could assist high-risk workers with their options, including:
156	 education and advice on worker rights, including paid sick time
157	requirements.

158 159	o advocating to employers that they not put high-risk workers into harm's way,
133	into harm 5 way,

161	o training for and applying for teleworking jobs,
162	o applying for unemployment benefits or PUA,
163	o applying for existing social services and direct financial
164	assistance for COVID-19 relief,
165	o establishing requirements or processes for city contractors with
166	high-risk workers in Austin, and
167	o other resources that may apply.
168	The City Manager should consult with other cities and counties, medical
169	experts, experts in unemployment benefits, and service providers.
170	170 BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED:
171	In order to ensure all workers with COVID-19 symptoms, or workers with 172	households with COVID-19 symptoms, stay home, the City Manager is directed to 173	also establish rules, strategies, and/or programs to:
174	• ensure all workers know their rights under the FFCRA,
175	• ensure all workers feel confident being tested for COVID-19, whether
176	or not they have access to paid sick time, and
177	 assist and advocate for workers to apply for the sick time they are due,
178	and to provide protections and support to workers that face retaliation

or who are denied sick time. The City Manager should consider providing this assistance and support as part of our COVID-19 testing process and our COVID-19 tracing process.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED:

The City Manager is directed to consider assisting with:

- helping ensure all workers, regardless of underlying condition or age, do not have to work in conditions that violate COVID-19 safety guidelines, and
- helping ensure all workers can speak out without retaliation about working conditions that violate COVID-19 safety guidelines, and
- helping ensure workplaces have the technical assistance and resources to adapt their workplaces to maintain COVID-19 safety guidelines.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED:

The City Manager is directed to report back to City Council with policy and budget recommendations by June 2, 2020. The City Manager shall engage community task force meetings, open to the public, to address the issues, the implementation, and the challenges faced by high risk populations and disproportionately affected communities, as identified in this Resolution. The City Council recognizes that the City of Austin faces legal limits in achieving all its worker safety and worker rights goals, and the Council asks the Manager to be as creative and thorough as possible within the City's legal authority.
