Grant funding was released by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) on July 22, 2020, as part of the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security, or CARES Act funds. Neighborhood Housing and Community Development Department was awarded the funding and has designated Austin Public Health (APH) to administer this agreement.

APH designates Workforce Solutions Capital Area Workforce Board as a CDBG subrecipient for the Child Care Services for essential workers for COVID-19 Response contract for Fiscal Years 2020-2023. Child care services will help avoid job loss of low-to moderate-income persons caused by decreased enrollment of children in child care by extending child care assistance for low-to moderate-income essential workers. Child care services will also enable essential workers whose employment was adversely affected by COVID-19, such as through the loss of work or pay, to take necessary time to find employment and job training. Eligible families must reside within the Austin city limits, have gross family income equal to or less than 80% of the median family income for the household size under the current HUD Income Limits, and must be actively case managed by a recognized social services agency.

Strategic Outcome(s):

Economic Opportunity and Affordability.
