

Six of nine panels from Hill of the Medicine Man by Thomas Evans

Thomas Evans

Hill of the Medicine Man, 1999

Oil on canvas panels
(part of the AIPP collection)

Just west of Austin is a Texas state park known as Enchanted Rock. There one can see and walk upon an ancient wonder of nature, a rounded hill of granite. This natural phenomenon was called by Native Americans, the Hill of the Medicine Man. Artist Thomas Evans celebrates the natural beauty and history of the Texas hill country with this nine panel landscape mural.

Location: East end ticket lobby level above the counters