2. BACKGROUND

The CYD program was established in 1995 with funds authorized by the 74th Legislature for the purpose of reducing juvenile crime in areas of Texas with a high incidence of juvenile crime. The program is administered by the Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (TDFPS) with the City of Austin – Austin Public Health Department serving as the fiscal agent for the local 78744 CYD program. The program is designed to be strongly community-based, with decision-making and fund allocation authority, managed at the local level in accordance with the guidelines of the program and this RFA.

The overall goal is to have a positive impact on the lives of children and youth, to enhance their critical development, and alleviate family conditions that may lead to juvenile delinquency. The geographic area identified for the receipt of CYD Funding in Austin is 78744, also known as greater Dove Springs.

CYD program service categories have been established in accordance with the 2019 CYD Community Strength and Needs Assessment for 78744, services required per the Department of Family and Protective Services, recommendations by the Community Collaborative Committee (CCC), Youth Advisory Committee (YAC), and as selected by the City of Austin.

6. ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Eligible participants are 6 – 17-year-old students who live in and/or attend school in the designated zip code of 78744, also known as greater Dove Springs. The total percentage of eligible youth, to be served between 6-9 years old, is limited to 30% each month.

CYD services are completely voluntary, must be provided at no charge to the youth and family, and are provided without regard to youth or family income.

Family members of eligible participants are only eligible for services if the service involves the family, including the eligible youth participant, with the objective of preventing delinquency of the eligible youth; or if the service provided to the family member can be directly linked to reducing the youth participants' likelihood of engaging in delinquent behavior. For the purpose of the CYD program, family members are limited to those individuals related by blood or marriage and residing in the same household, except in case-by-case circumstances.

Service providers must exercise good judgment when registering youth for CYD programs. For time limited services (e.g., a 12-week job preparation workshop), if a youth will turn 18 years of age at or after the midpoint of the program, the youth may be registered and continue participation for the remaining duration of the program.

As a prevention program, CYD is intended to serve youth who have not been involved in the juvenile justice system, but who are at-risk of becoming involved.

Youth already involved in the juvenile justice system should not be actively recruited or referred to CYD, though providers are not required to verify lack of involvement in the juvenile justice system. The criterion for participant eligibility is determined at the state level. At the service level, programs may focus on a subset of the eligible population; however, the overall CYD program must abide by the requirements established by DFPS and the City of Austin APH.

Local providers are not limited to serving only youth who are eligible for CYD services. It is necessary to note however, that only services provided to eligible youth, as defined above, will be reimbursed through CYD.
