More than half of Asian American teens report being bullied in schools. According to the survey data released in 2011 by the US Justice Department and Education Department, Asian Americans endure far more bullying in U.S. schools than any other ethnic group. Compared to other teens, Asian American teens are three times as likely to face bullying on the internet.

This training will focus on the impact and cultural implications of bullying with Asian American students in our schools today. The program will include a brief presentation on bullying, and a panel of mental/behavioral health professionals who will provide real-life examples/lessons from clients about their bullying experiences and the life-long consequences of bullying. This training also hopes to foster a discussion on how professional and community based organizations can collaborate to address this issue.

This training is free and open to the public. Mental health professionals, caseworkers, educators and school counselors, youth workers and parents/family members are encouraged to attend.

The YWCA Greater Austin is a CEU accredited provider for Social Work, LPC & LMFT Continuing Education hours. This training provides 3.0 CEU hours.

The City of Austin is proud to comply with the American Disabilities Act. If you require special assistance for participation in our programs or use of our facilities please call 512.974.1700.
