OPEN HOUSE

Austin's 100 Year Water Plan

Come be part of an effort to plan our community's water resources for the next 100 years! Austin is one of the fastest growing cities in the country. With a rapidly growing city and a changing climate, Austin Water is working with other City Departments, a Council-appointed citizen Task Force, and the community to develop a water plan for the next century.

We have considered a wide range of strategies including water conservation, water reuse, aquifer storage and recovery and others. Our team will be on hand to discuss recommended demand management and water supply strategies, benefits of the plan and answer any questions you have in an open house setting.

We invite you to come and hear how Austin plans to ensure a diversified, sustainable, and resilient water future, with a strong emphasis on water conservation for the next 100 years.

These are kid-friendly events. Light refreshments will be provided. There is plenty of parking at both our locations. If taking transit, plan your trip here or locate the closest B-Cycle station here.
