

- East and West Drives currently cut through the park and make it hard to use some of the parkland.

- Closing these roads, removing the concrete and converting them to parkland would increase the size of the park without having a significant impact on the transportation network.

- The added space would help compensate for any loss in usable parkland from the detention ponds.